COURSE DESCRIPTION

The fundamental challenge any play or theatre text presents to performers, directors, designers and stage managers is how to read it in a way that is useful for a staged production.

Play Analysis is part of an artistic process; it calls for intuitive responses, contemplation, and analytical skills. Play analysis is only the first step in preparation for a production of a play. Subsequent steps depend on the job a particular artist in the production team needs to fulfill, as a performer, a director, a designer, etc.

The following categories will be explored in this class: context, events, bits and objectives, and stage metaphor. In other words, what’s happening, where/when is it happening, who is making it happen (if someone is), why (if there is a reason), and how could it be staged.

(Given the description above, ENGL majors should take note that the main goals of this course concern discovering performance values in the plays studied and only in tangential ways what might traditionally be termed their literary values or cultural contexts).

TEXTS

The Complete Dramatic Works, Samuel Beckett. Required.

2016 ORIENTATION ASSEMBLY

Each year in September we hold an Orientation Assembly to welcome students to the new term, introduce our new students to faculty and other students; provide information about the department, its various activities and those of its professors; and deliver news about what's coming up. This year our Orientation Assembly will be held on Wednesday, September 14, 2016, 12:30-13:20 in Theatre, 1T15. ATTENDANCE IS COMPULSORY for all Majors and Honours students. Those considering Honours are strongly recommended to attend. All others are welcome and encouraged to attend.

TAFSA

All students enrolled in at least one theatre or film class are automatically members of TAFSA, the Theatre and Film Students' Association, which plans a number of exciting activities each academic year. We are looking forward to regular Performance Jams, Socials, and the very popular 24/7 Event during which students move into our building and five plays are written, rehearsed, produced, and presented – all in a period of 24 hours! And this year, for the first-time, TAFSA is planning a Play Festival (Jan 11-14). Please join TAFSA to find out more at its organizational meeting: Mon Sept 19, 12:30-1:20, Room OT10. This is a great opportunity for students to connect with other like-minded people and a way to get involved in the department events.

STUDENT PARTICIPATION POLICY

Theatre is a communal art form in which a number of interdependent artists and crafts people co-operate to create a work of art. This fact is necessarily transferred to the learning situation, and is reflected in many of the Department's courses. Consequently, it is the Department's policy that students are required to: complete homework such as reading, line-learning, script analysis, prop lists, design drawings, etc.; attend classes; attend rehearsals both within and outside of class times; and, in short, to exhibit commitment towards the inevitably shared endeavours of our field of study.

Any student failing to fulfil these requirements is harmful to the progress of dedicated students and may, after due warning, be asked to withdraw from any individual Departmental course.

COURSE CONTENT NOTE

All Theatre and Film Classes

Dramatic Literature depicts a wide variety of human action, both elevated and base, public and private, physical and psychological, sexual and non-sexual, etc. The Department of Theatre and Film will not undertake to censor the subject matter of dramatic works.

Students who have concerns about dealing with the full range of content and style in drama/film are urged to discuss these concerns with the course instructor.
